VOYAGE OF LIGHT- HOUSE FLEET ENDS

Kukui Reaches Golden Gate and Will Come Here

SAN FRANCISCO, Calif., Jan. 25.—After a voyage of 14,331 miles, six of Uncle Sam's new vessels belonging to the lighthouse fleet came into port yesterday to be used in service in these waters. They come in command of Captain Albert Mertz, U. S. Navy, who acted as admiral of the little flotilla. Captain Mertz reports that the voyage was uneventful and that the time made was good. The only rough weather was encountered along the Mexican coast, and as they approached San Diego they saw an immense waterspout.

The flotilla consists of three light-house tenders and three lightships. The tenders are the Manzanita, Captain Barron; the Sequoia, Captain Bowman, and the Kukui, Captain Peterson. The lightships are the Columbia, No. 88, Captain Brooks; the Swiftsure, No. 93, Captain Phillips; and the Relief, No. 92, Captain Walcott.

They will be located as follows: The Sequoia and the Relief are to be stationed at this port; the Manzanita and the Swiftsure go to Puget Sound; the Columbia is to go to the Columbia river, and the Kukui is to go to Honolulu.

These vessels were constructed at Camden, N. J., and left New York Sept. 21. They were three and a half days making the voyage up from San Diego. The vessels traveled under their own steam as far as Callao. From that point to the Golden Gate, a distance of 1,475 miles, the lightships were towed by the tenders.

BIG FIGHT FOR LOCAL OPTION

Demonstration to Impress Washington State Legislature

Olympia (Wash.), January 29.—Workers in behalf of the local option bills now before the Legislature are making arrangements for a great temperance meeting here Monday afternoon and evening, to be addressed by Evangelist "Billy" Sunday. It is planned to bring excursions from Tacoma, Seattle and other cities in the effort to impress the Legislature that there is a strong public sentiment demanding a local option bill.

Sunday is coming from Spokane in a special train with a large delegation from that city. It is expected that he will address the public meeting of the House Judiciary Committee called for Monday evening to consider local measures, and also speak on local option at several mass meetings to be held in the theater.

TELEGRAPHONE INSTALLED.

Los Angeles, Jan. 6.—The telegraphone is to supersede the telegraph over the entire Santa Fe system, and installation on a section of each grand division is now in progress. According to General Manager Wells, several years will be required to extend it all over the complete system, but this is to be gradually done.

The particular section on the West coast where the plan is to be first tried out has not been definitely determined but as soon as a decision is reached the installation will be made and a section of 100 miles on either the San Joaquin Valley or Los Angeles division will be using telegraphones within the next few months.

Trains will be equipped with the necessary instruments to cut in at any desired point, and all blind sidings, meeting places, switches, etc., will be arranged for communication with stations. The adoption of the telegraphones means a large saving to the railroad.

SECRET SERVICE CONTROVERSY

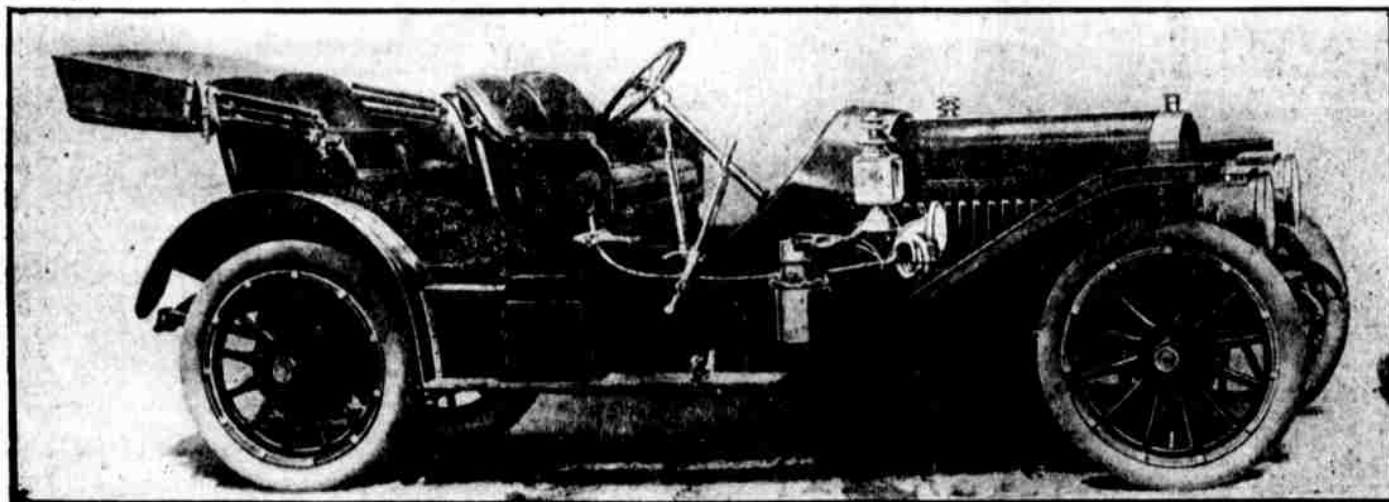

WILLIAM J. BURNS

FRANCIS J. HENNEY

REPRESENTATIVE PERKINS

[Representative Perkins of New York is chairman of the special House Committee to consider the statement in the President's message concerning the law which denies the Treasury Department the right to lend Secret Service men to other Departments to uncover crimes against the Government. The President's remarks stirred some of the members of Congress to anger, and the incident is likely to be followed by some lively debate. This group comprises Representative Perkins, who called for the appointment of the committee; William J. Burns, the Secret Service man who ran down the San Francisco grafters and the land swindlers, and Francis J. Heney, the San Francisco prosecutor, who was shot while trying a case in court. It is the first picture taken of Mr. Heney after the shooting and shows him with his head bandaged to protect the wound made by the would-be assassin's bullet.]
